

Popular Couple United in Marriage

A marriage of more than usual interest occurred at Olympian Springs yesterday when Miss Minnie Goins became the bride of Dr. Harry M. Wright. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Clyde Darsie, of this city, and was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Herd Tipton. The marriage of this popular couple, although not unexpected, coming at this time was quite a surprise to their many friends.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Goins, of Frankfort, and has been engaged in the millinery business in this city for the past several years. She is a young lady of striking personality and during her brief residence here has made a host of friends who greatly admire her for her many charms.

Dr. Wright is a son of Mrs. Jane Wright, of this city, and is one of Mt. Sterling's most prominent young dentists with a large and growing practice. He is a splendid young gentleman of the highest order and is exceedingly popular with a host of friends.

Shortly after the ceremony the happy couple left for a ten days' wedding trip to Canada and upon their return will go to housekeeping at the home of Mrs. Emma Beall on High street, where they have taken an apartment.

The marriage of this prominent couple is of wide interest in this section and it is our sincere wish that their married life may prove one long day of happiness.

Important Notice To the Merchants

Only a few of the merchants have purchased fly traps—it is very important to the health of the community that the fly nuisance be eliminated or reduced to a minimum. The best way to do this is to place fly traps on the curb in front of your store. The traps do not cost much and will prove a splendid investment.

The Boy Scouts will have complete charge of the operation of the traps, keeping them baited and emptied. All you have to do is purchase your trap and the Boy Scouts will do the rest. The Boy Scouts are interested in the welfare of the city—surely you will help them and the health of the community by purchasing a fly trap.

Frankfort Officers Shot

Four policemen, two of whom are fatally wounded, were shot in a fight with John Follis, on the streets of Frankfort yesterday. Follis' son, Corlos, aged 17 years, was standing on a roof looking into a tent of a carnival company, now playing in Frankfort. He was ordered by one of the officers to descend, but refused to do so, and resisted the policeman, who was forced to summon help in arresting the boy, who is strong for his age. The father, hearing of his son's arrest, ran to the police station just as the officers arrived with the boy, and demanded his release. This being refused, he opened fire, wounded three of the force. He then went to his home, taking his son along, and barricaded himself in his house, shooting and wounding Officer Noonon, who tried to force the door of the building. The sheriff has assumed charge of the situation and has appointed more than a dozen deputies, all of whom are heavily armed.

ONLY FOUR MORE DAYS OF BIGGEST VOTE OFFER

Turn in All Subscriptions Possible Before Next Tuesday Night. Right Now is the Time They Will Bring the Greatest Number of Votes

But four days remain in which to take advantage of the biggest and best vote offer of the campaign, and every candidate should put forth her best efforts between now and next Tuesday night and secure every subscription possible.

Here is the Offer

Until next Tuesday night, June 21, at 8 o'clock 250,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given free on each and every "Club of $15" worth of "NEW" subscriptions turned in for or by a candidate. New subscriptions for any number of years up to ten years, apply on this offer. For instance, you may have one-year subscriptions, two-year subscriptions, five-year subscriptions, etc., and as long as they are new subscriptions and amount to $15 or one club, you will receive 250,000 extra votes free.

It is not necessary to wait until you get a complete club of $15 before turning in your subscriptions. Turn them in as fast as you receive them, so we can get the paper started and then your friends will commence to save the 50-vote coupons for you.

Candidates may secure as many clubs of $15 as they can and on each club of new subscriptions 250,000 extra votes will be given free.

Subscriptions sent by mail will be accepted and counted under this offer as long as the envelope containing same is postmarked not later than 8 P. M., next Tuesday, June 21st.

This offer closes June 21st and special ballots for the extra votes due the candidates on the club vote offer will be mailed a day or two later, as soon as they can be verified.

Prize Ballot Offer

In addition to the 250,000 Vote Offer mentioned above, twenty prize ballots will be awarded to the twenty candidates who turn in the greatest amount of both old and new subscriptions before next Tuesday night June 21st, at 8 o'clock. The twenty prize ballots will be awarded as follows:

Life Term Given Prof. Threlkeld

Prof. T. B. Threlkeld, 73 year-old, head of the Threlkeld Select School, was found guilty by a Mercer county jury in Circuit court at Nicholasville yesterday of the murder of Arthur Denman. He was sentenced to serve a life term in the penitentiary. Motion for a new trial was made by counsel for the defense, but action on the motion was postponed until Friday.

Making Good

Samuel Dicken, who is just finishing his freshman year at Marietta College, has been elected president of his class for the coming year. Dicken is one of the best liked men in his class, and highly thought of by all his instructors as well as by his fellow students. He is a member of the Nu Phi Greek letter fraternity. He has taken part in a number of plays given by the College Players Club this year, one of which "You Never Can Tell," by Bernard Shaw, was presented in one of the theaters of the city. The coach of the college baseball team recently got hold of him and played him in one of the games with another college. He is regarded as very promising baseball material for another year.

Paralysis Fatal To Mrs. A. M. Cline

Mrs. Bettie Cline, aged 70 years, wife of the late A. M. Cline, died at her home on Holt avenue Tuesday afternoon following a long illness of paralysis. Mrs. Cline had been a consecrated member of the Christian church since childhood and was one of the purest and noblest women that ever lived. Her life was one of service and her happiest moments were those spent in doing kind deeds that those she loved might find the pathway of life one more joyously trod. In her departure earth has given up one of its noblest of inhabitants and Heaven has received a woman that lived so that she would, at any hour, be ready and willing to meet her Savior "Face to Face."

May those that mourn be comforted by the Christian, self-sacrificing life she lived and may recollections of her ever be as a guiding star to loftier and nobler ideals.

Surviving Mrs. Cline are five children, Miss Fannie and John P. Cline, of this city; James Cline, of Lexington; Joe Cline, of Ashland; Warren Cline, of Virginia; and two brothers, Dr. J. F. Jones and John W. Jones, of this city.

Funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Clyde Darsie, assisted by Rev. B. W. Trimble, with burial in Maplelawn cemetery.

France Compared To the U. S. A.

France has a population approximately of 39,000,000. Forty per cent of the people take care of their money. Which means that over 15,000,000 French folks practice thrift. America has a population approximately of 105,000,000. Not more than 10 per cent of Americans save their money.

American women are spending $750,000,000 a year for cosmetics. The bee, in proportion to its size, is thirty-five times as strong as a horse. The balance wheel of a watch moves more than 3,500 miles in a year.

The United States leads the world in commerce, but ranks ninth in education.

The Chinese usually open a conversation with "How old are you?" instead of "How do you do?" The money lost through fires in the United States from 1915 to 1919 was sufficient to build new homes for 1,416,375 persons.

Owing to the shortage of teachers between 300,000 and 400,000 children in the United States last year had to go without schooling.

Over $17,000,000,000 must be provided by the United States government to meet its running expenses for the next thirty months.

Look Pleasant

We cannot, of course, all be handsome.

And it's hard for us all to be good.

We are sure now and then to be lonely.

And we don't always do as we should.

To be patient is not always easy.

To be cheerful is much harder still.

But at least we can always be pleasant.

If we make up our minds that we will.

And it pays every time to be kindly.

Although you feel worried and blue.

If you smile at the world and look cheerful.

The world will soon smile back at you.

So try to brace up and look pleasant.

No matter how low you are down.

Good humor is always contagious.

But you banish your friends when you frown.

If you get up in the morning with nothing particular to do, you are very likely to do it.

Cattle—Receipts, 1367 head, as against 1198 last Monday and 568 a year ago. Market slow and inactive from the start. A light demand was in evidence for the prime light butchers at prices steady, with last week's close or considerable under a week ago. Medium and half-fat kinds slow sale at lower prices. Cows slow sale, strictly good kinds selling up to $5@5.50. Milk cow trade fair, common milkers dull. Fair outlet for the best quality stockers at prevailing rates. Medium and common trashy offerings neglected. Heavy steer trade ruled about steady with last week's wind-up or fully 50c under last Monday. Bulls lower. Best bolognas around $4 down.

Calfes—Receipts, 222 head. Market steady. Best veals, $8.50. Medium $5@6. Common to medium, $4@5. Buyers discriminating against heavy calves, 200 pounds and up. This kind not bringing top prices.

Hogs—Receipts 1271 head. Market active with steady prices in vogue. Tops, $8. Best hogs, 200 pounds and up, $7.50; 90 pounds to 220 pounds, $8; 90 pounds down, $6.75; throw-outs, $6 down.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 2363 head. Market weak and 50 lower. Quality of the offerings common and sorting hard. Best lambs sold $11.50 down. Seconds, $6 down. Best sheep, $3.50 down. Bucks, $2 down.

Citizens' Camp to be Held at Camp Knox

The War Department has announced that the citizens' training camp for the fifth corps area, which is to be held at Camp Knox, Ky., will open on July 21, and will close on August 20.

The camp, it is announced, will accommodate 1,200 men. It will be open to citizens of four states, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia. A good many applications already have been filed by citizens of all four of the states and lively interest in the camp is expected as the date for holding it approaches.

At Camp Knox the civilians in attendance will live in barracks. At some of the less favored camps the citizen soldiers will dwell in tents.

Native and naturalized citizens of the United States between the ages of 16 and 35 years are eligible for enrollment, provided they meet the physical requirements and bear good reputations. The government pays all of the expenses of this training.

The candidate gives only his time. Even the money he pays for his trip from his home will be returned when he reaches camp at the rate of five cents per mile for the journey by the shortest usual route. This will pay not only for the railroad fare, but will allow an additional amount of food and other necessary expenses of the trip. The allowance for the return trip will be given to the citizen soldier before he leaves camp.

Blanks may be secured from Judge A. A. Hazelrigg or E. Y. Nelson.

Justice for Fat Men

Fat men are considered the best risks by the surety companies. This comes as an echo from a convention at Atlantic City, where all business men go to reveal the secrets of their success. A fat man enjoys life and does not seek fortune through the robbery of his employer. A 200-pound cashier is to a surety company a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

Now for justice in this matter. We have never heard of a surety company reducing the rate on a man's bond because the man was fat. On the other hand, when the fat trusted employee goes to the life insurance company to get a policy he is often told that on account of his overweight he must pay an extra premium. The life insurance people do not count the fat man's honesty at all. Overweight, he is a bad risk that must be penalized until the fatness is corrected.

There is a subject worthy of the most morose Russian novelist; the fat and honest man of small salary reducing his weight in order that he may protect his family with life insurance and thus reducing his honesty, or the evidence thereof, so much that in the end he loses his job through theft or the refusal of a surety company to bond him. With a muffled cry he throws himself over the parapet of a bridge across the Vodka River; a parapet which in his old happy state of extreme fatness he never could have surmounted.

Of course it's nice to be a man's first love, but the average woman would rather be his last.

A Lesson in Thrift

H. F. McCormick, president of the International Harvester Co., spoke in New York before an industrial research class. His talk concerning his bonus and works council plans was interesting, but my own interest was in the man first and his topic, rather more remote than himself second.

After the class several of us talked informally with Mr. McCormick. He lit his pipe—for even corporation presidents smoke. His tobacco pouch, rather torn by use, it seemed, was bulging full, and some of the contents spilled on the clean table. He filled his pipe and then brushed back into his pouch the spilled weed. Somebody lit him a match. He did a singular thing; he took the match in his own hand and lit his pipe; neither did his nose get burned by a careless hand nor was the match held a longer time than he wished and knew was necessary. All the while his eyes were jovial.

I wonder if more of us just brushed up the spillings and increased thus our reserves—no matter in what we deal; and likewise when fire must be handled if we handled it ourselves; then smiled too, couldn't we be corporation presidents?

Popular Comedy Drama, "The Man from Home," Sixth Night at Chautauqua

"The Man from Home," sparkling comedy drama, will be given on the sixth night of the coming Redpath Chautauqua. The record-breaking success of the play throughout the country has been largely due to its wholesome Americanism, its seasoning of delightful shrewdness, and its humorously complicated plot. The play is rich with amusing and sometimes almost tragic situations, resulting from the clash between midwestern American ideals and old-world class distinctions. The characters are drawn from real life. Their quaintnesses, their absurdities, their lovable and eccentricities, all are marked by the sure craftsmanship of those popular playwrights, Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson.

Exclude "Can't"

"You know I cannot help it! I was born that way; I was made that way!" This is one of the hundred excuses that dwarf the development, suppress the growth, of multitudes of people.

Children must be taught that they can do things. There is too much of the, "I can't" in their education. A child should be warned against the use of the word "Can't." This word should be excluded from the dictioary as an enemy to his advancement.

Every child should be trained to think that he has vast hidden reserves of possibilities in the great within for himself, and that he should always be on the lookout to discover and develop them. He should be encouraged to resort to every means of self-culture, self-education, self-improvement, at his command, in order to bring out what is in him.

Miss Robertson Stars

Miss Lila Ruth Robertson, of Bethel, well known and very popular here, played the star role in "Green Stockings," the Senior play recently presented at Randolph-Macon Woman's College. The following complimentary press notice from the Lynchburg News, will be of much interest to Miss Robertson's friends here:

"As a part of the commencement exercises now current at the Randolph-Macon Woman's College, the senior class play was given at the Academy of Music last night, and a record breaking audience, one of culture and refinement, spent a delightful evening.

The play chosen by the class of 1921, was the English comedy drama, "Green Stockings," which was played professionally some years ago by Margaret Anglin. The play is in three acts—purely a comedy with a thread of romance of a typical English type, and it was indeed surprising how well the scenes were played. Through a difficult undertaking the full comedy values were so well brought out that the audience was simply convulsed at frequent intervals.

The story, which is written around the romance of Celia Faraday and Colonel Smith, offers abundant opportunity which is accepted to the credit of the entire cast.

Miss Lila Ruth Robertson, in the role of Celia Faraday, the part originated by Miss Anglin, was splendid. Her interpretation showed a keen insight and an intellectual development and her naturalness and easy mannerisms gave strength to her characterization. She was well supported by Naomi Helfrich, Pen Brown, Edith Lee and Willanna Walker, in the other female roles. The male roles were portrayed by Katharine Akers, Alta Overmayer, Helen Smead, Mary LaFar, Mary Wyatt, Marion Magruder and May E. Moore, all of whom deserved mention."

Produce Review

Live hens are moving in normal quantities for this time of the year. The movement of springs is light, farmers evidently holding them until they become larger.

Eggs are moving in reduced quantities, and with a fair inquiry for export shipment there has been a further advance in the market. Few eggs are going into storage at present, as the production is just about enough to take care of the consuming demand.

Butter values improved during the week, due to heavy consumption and the demand for June butter for storage. Indications are that pastures will be good for some time, which should mean a good production of butterfat.

"Doctor," said he, "I'm a victim of insomnia. I can't sleep if there's the least noise, such as a cat on the back fence, for instance."

"This powder will be effective," replied the physician, after compounding a prescription.

"When do I take it, doctor?"
"You don't take it. You give it to the cat in some milk."

Coal Bills in Maine

In the state of Maine the householder has not only a longer but a harder winter than the rest of our Atlantic seaboard in which to pay coal bills. And the best he could do early this year in converting his money into coal, with not one red cent, included either for the wholesale dealer's profit or for the retail dealer's profit, will show every other consumer as well as the Maine consumer what it is he pays for nowadays when he buys his coal.

The average Maine cost in the householder's bins without any dealer's profits at all, according to Geo. Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey, is $15.17 a short ton. This is the way that cost of $15.17 a ton is made up:

Labor at the mine, inside, $3.38; outside, 64 cents; power house and general colliery, 18 cents; administrative, 7 cents; total labor cost at the mine, $4.27 a ton.

Material at the mine, inside, 79 cents; outside, 57 cents; total, $1.36.

Reserves: Local taxes, 12 cents; compensation insurance and other hazards, 24 cents; depreciation, depletion, etc., 33 cents; total, 69 cents.

Producer's total mine cost, as by the foregoing, $6.32.

To which must be added selling expense, 8 cents; margins for federal taxes and dividends, 52 cents.

Buyer's cost at the mine, as by the foregoing, $6.92.

Freight charges, $6.25; federal tax on freight, 19 cents; total freight cost, $6.44.

Cost to buyer at railroad station in Maine of all the foregoing, $13.36.

Yard and office expense of local dealer, 22 cents; delivery in consumer's bin, $1.59.

Total of all the foregoing, $15.17.

Note that about half the total cost of getting coal to the consumer's bin is transportation, $6.44, chiefly labor. Mine cost, $6.32, is chiefly labor. Local delivery, including yard expense, $1.81, is chiefly labor.

Note that of the total laid down cost of $15.17 a full $12.65—made up of mine labor cost, $4.27; compensation insurance and selling expense, 32 cents; freight charges, $6.25, and local yard and delivery cost, $1.81—chiefly goes to wages.

If there is no profiteering in the coal business, if there are no profits at all anywhere from the mouth of the mine to the bin of the consumer, the American people cannot burn coal and keep themselves warm at anything like a reasonable price until the labor costs of mining, hauling and handling coal comes down to a reasonable cost.

Real Happiness

A great multiplicity of material things do not create happiness. Many of the happiest people I know have very little with which to be happy, but much to be happy for—health, life, opportunity. To life in the most glorious country in the world, in the best time of all history, surrounded by friends and with a chance to love, to help, to work and to be useful; the opportunity to make the world a better place to live in—these are the things to make us truly happy. Why, the humblest of human beings has an infinite number of things to make him happy if he will only stop to consider them.

We are glad to see business getting back where we can wait for change.

Live Stock Market

Louisville, Ky., June 15.
Cattle—Receipts 147 head, for the three days, 1719. A light number arrived for the days' trading with little activity noted on any class of stock. Prime light butchers found a fair outlet at prevailing rates. Medium and common grades dull and uneven. Canners $2 down. Medium to good cows continue dull at Monday's low time. Milk cow trade slow. Narrow call for stockers and feeders at the present levels. Common trashy kinds hard to dispose of at low prices. Weak feeling noted in heavy steer division with few prime kinds offered. Bulls unchanged, best hogs $4 down. Fair clearance in evidence.

Calves—Receipts, 606 head, for the three days 1076. Market steady. Best veals, $8.50. Medium, $5thb. Common to medium, $4@5. Buyers discriminating against heavy calves 200 pounds and up, this kind not bringing the top price.

Hogs—Receipts 1365 head. Market active at steady prices, with the best grades bringing $8. Best hogs, 220 pounds and up, $7.50; 90 pounds to 220 pounds, $8; 90 pounds down, $6.75. Throwouts, $6 down.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 3823 head, for the three days 8371. Market steady with a fairly good call for the best grades. Several loads of strictly good lambs with weight, sold early at $12. General trade on top lambs $11.50. Best fat sheep, $3@3.50. Bucks, $2 down.

The Mennonites now in Canada want to go to Mexico and are dickering with a Florida syndicate for the sale of their land and farming equipment near Winn'peg. The geographical distribution of their interests, involving three nations, presents a cross section of modern business worth studying.

Leaf Hopper Damage Stopped by Bordeaux

Considerable damage is done to potato vines during the summer by the potato leaf hopper, according to H. H. Jewitt, of the College of Agriculture, who states that the insect may be controlled by using the standard formula of bordeaux mixture, the spray acting as a repellent to the females so that they do not lay their eggs on the plants. The first spraying should be done when the hoppers appear on the vines in noticeable numbers, and should be followed by a second spraying ten days or two weeks later. It is sometimes necessary to apply a third spraying in order to completely control the pest.

The leaf hopper is a small yellowish-green insect about one-eighth of an inch long, which gets its food both in the adult and immature stages by piercing the leaf tissue and sucking the juice with its beak. When the insect pierces the leaf a brown spot appears and when there are a large number attacking the same leaf the entire surface shows a burned appearance. The injured leaflets curl and sometimes completely dry up, becoming hard and brittle. Whole fields sometimes have a brownish appearance.

Hot, dry weather is favorable to the development and multiplication of this insect, which winters as an adult and feeds for some time in the spring on a variety of plants when it suddenly migrates to the potato vines. This usually takes place in June, and is followed by a second migration of a summer generation to the late vines.

The prospecting attorney had encountered a rather difficult witness.

At length, exasperated, he asked the man if he was acquainted with any of the jury.

"Yes, sir," announced the witness; "more than half of them."

"Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them?" demanded the lawyer.

"Why, if it comes to that," replied the witness easily, "I'm willing to swear that I know more than all of them put together."

First National Offers Mammoth Super-Drama

It is not often that any film concern can essay really mammoth screen productions in this age of mounting prices, because at the outset the cost is prohibitive. David W. Griffith's "Intolerance" was the last photoplay of this class and proportion. But now comes the First National with what is claimed to be perhaps the biggest super-drama of them all. It is entitled "Passion," and is described as "the foremost screen epic." Some idea of the size of this production can be gained by contemplating the fact that 5,000 persons are in the cast. A further insight to the immensity of this feature spectacle is given in the claim that the ordinary motion picture camera was too limited in its scope to photograph all the action of certain of the unusual mob scenes in this release and consequently an ingenious new invention had to be devised with surprisingly gratifying results. Further, the introduction of Pola Negri, the famous Continental Star, in this photoplay is said to amount to a revelation in the depth and power of the silent drama. It is enthusiastically claimed for her that she has set a new high standard in character delineation in pantomime.

"Passion" is announced as the attraction at the Tabb Theatre on Wednesday, June 22nd, and the management has made arrangements for a record-breaking business in view of the exceptionally brilliant reputation this feature has attained in the other cities in which it has been exhibited. The story is said to be replete with subtle thrills and it unfolds one of the most appealing love stories yet recorded, if one can judge by the advance press sheets, giving the synopsis. The fact that the principal character is a little French milliner who rises to such a degree of prominence that she is able to rule the king of her land is sufficient inkling of the interesting potentiality of the narrative. She rises only to fall again and the depicting of her downward journey is even more thrilling than her climb up the ladder of fame. Once she is brought back to her old ground among the lowly masses, she finds herself the helpless target for universal hatred which knows no mercy. Her ultimate fate is inevitably tragic.

Few Precautions Will Stop Stock Losses

By practicing a few simple precautions live stock shippers can do much to eliminate the enormous losses in stock, especially hogs, which occur during hot weather, according to members of the Animal Husbandry Department of the College of Agriculture. Hogs should be hauled or driven to the shipping station in ample time to allow them to become rested and cool before loading, after which they may be loaded into cars that are clean and bedded with sand, clay or earth. The bedding and interior of the car should be thoroughly dampened before the car is loaded. Feeding the animals a heavy feed of grain before they are shipped results in more body heat being generated.

The stock to be shipped should be loaded not more than one hour before the train is to depart and should be loaded slowly and carefully, care being taken to avoid exciting or bruising the animals. Not more than 14,000 pounds of fat hogs should be placed in one car, but 16,000 pounds of stock hogs may be placed in a standard 36-foot car during warm weather. Water applied to the bedding in the car at available points will be found helpful in preventing the animals from becoming overheated. Ice should be used on the floor of the car whenever possible. Care should be taken to see that water is not thrown directly on the hogs after they become heated. Instead, it should be run on the floor of the car under the hogs.

The world moves so swiftly that it's impossible for any one to stand still, and it's well for the world that it's so.

Lumbermen Hear The Best News

It will be welcome news for all workers in ash timber of both the white and the black variety to learn that kiln drying has been found to be a remedy for the ravages of the redheaded borer which sometimes attacks ash when it is air seasoned. The wider importance of the discovery lies in the fact that ash is one of the woods used as a substitute for chestnut.

A great proportion of our chestnut trees are dead as the result of the blight which first showed itself in the Eastern states in the last decade. Dealers have had to turn to ash and hickory for purposes for which chestnut was formerly employed. There is no more satisfactory timber for some uses than chestnut. Ash has always been a fairly good substitute, and the fact that a way has been found to protect it from borers increases its usefulness. Kiln drying protects hickory as well as ash.

At the same time there is better news of chestnut trees. The blight began on Long Island a dozen years ago and killed virtually every chestnut tree in the state within 250 miles of New York city, spread to New Jersey the following year and from that state crossed into Pennsylvania and spread on through Maryland into Virginia. It has left the forests filled with gaunt gray wrecks in the shape of dead standing trees.

Few owners of areas affected followed the example of Clarence H. Mackay, who put up a portable sawmill to dispose of the more than 6,000 trees which he lost on his Harbor Hill estate near Roslyn, Long Island. Yet it is a mistake to permit a dead tree to remain standing among live trees. The moment decay appears the axe and the crosscut saw should be brought into use. Millions of feet of the finest kind of lumber for ordinary purposes could have been saved if stricken chestnut trees had been cut when attacked by the blight.

A remarkable feature of the later history of the chestnut blight is that the stumps of some of the stricken trees are sending forth live shoots this spring. A number of these shoots may be noted along the Baltimore, Washington and Annapolis railway between Baltimore and Annapolis. This same phenomenon has manifested itself in Maryland in the region of Havre de Grace, and the question naturally suggests itself whether the blight having run its course, has not left this hardy type of tree with enough vitality to attempt a comeback.

A Mt. Sterling family is so fond of an argument that they won't let anything that agrees with them.

Don't growl, it will soon die, everything dies sometimes.

From the People

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 26, 1921.

Editor Review: I read in The Decatur Review a report saying that there are 168 different kinds of religion taught in the United States and since I read that report I have learned from good authority that there are 932 different kinds of religion taught in Europe. The World War was an awful thing and seems to me to teach different kinds of religion is also an awful thing.

I have arrived at the age of octogenarian, eighty-six years. I have been a member of the church for sixty-six years. I never was connected with a creed, sect, nor a denomination. I have read the Bible and have studied it and never did I find where I thought it taught more than one kind of religion. We hear people say I would join the church but I don't know what church to join. Different kinds of teachers have confused the people.

In St. Matthew, chapter 16, Jesus asked his disciples, "Whom say ye that I am?" Simon Peter answered and said, "Thou art the Christ the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, "and I say also unto thee that thou art Peter and upon this rock I will build My church and the gates of Hell shall not prevail against it." And in St. Matthew, chapter 3, He gives us an example showing us how we may become members of His church and in the third chapter of St. John He says we must follow His example or we cannot enter into the kingdom of God. In St. Matthew seventh chapter, He says, "Enter Ye in at the straight gate because straight is the gate and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life and few there be that find it."

Now if all these different kinds of teachers could be induced to unite on the Bible and teach Bible doctrine just one kind of religion it would be the greatest organization in all the world. Christian unity can be accomplished on the platform of one Lord, one faith and one baptism. Sectarianism has hindered the cause of Christianity and has done more harm than all the idolatry and infidelity in the world combined.

Mrs. Profiteer was very proud of the stunts they were doing at the smart private school to which she had sent her daughter.

"My dear," she said to her friend, "she's learning civics if you please." "What's civics?" asked the friend. "Civics? My dear don't you know? Why, it's the science of interfering in public affairs."

As a matter of fact gratitude is never an abundant crop.

GALILEO made the telescope and brought to light unknown stars and planets, the craters of the moon, the rings of Saturn and other things.

Properly used, the telescope is a wonderfully effective instrument. But look through the wrong end and your vision becomes distorted; things get out of focus; objects well within your reach seem miles away.

AN important province of this newspaper is to act as your telescope. Use it properly and your vision is enlarged. That means reading the advertisements as well as the other news. Fail to read the advertising and you overlook a great deal that you ought to see and know—the best in values—opportunities for economy, increased comfort, convenience and happiness.

Advertising brings close to your hand the things you want. Tells you where to buy them—what they cost.

You glean much valuable information about merchants, their stores, their goods, their services—all important points to you as a possible purchaser.

You often add materially to the effectiveness of your purchases by reading the advertisements of this paper.

ADVERTISING identifies goods of unquestioned value. When a store or a manufacturer puts his name on a product and tells you about it, you may rest assured that it is worth while. It does not pay to advertise merchandise that is not sound. The comebacks are too costly.

SOMETIMES advertising keeps you from making an unwise purchase by pointing out just why one article suits your needs better than another. A step toward real economy.

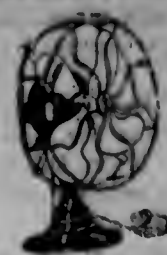

It helps you live better and dress better and make more of your income in every way. Also, real economy.

YOU may read every line of the news columns—but if you overlook the advertising you remain uninformed about the very things that concern you most vitally.

Unquestionably, you narrow your vision. Get a "close-up."

Read the advertisements today, and every day. Make it a part of your daily program to do so. The time and effort so spent will enable you to save more time and effort—money, too—by showing you where, when and how to spend your money most profitably.

Interesting Facts

The average income of unmarried women in New York state (with no incumbents), who reported their incomes last year, as subject to state tax, was $2,394, while that of the men without a family was $2,459.

Automobiles registered in the U. S. last year numbered 9,211,295, an increase of 1,645,840 over the preceding year. The registration and license fees amounted to $102,034,106. In New York state alone the number of cars registered in 1920 exceeded the total registration for the United States in 1910.

Before the World War the people of the United States owed to other countries $5,000,000,000. This debt has been paid and there is now owed to us $10,000,000,000. We hold the largest gold reserve in the world, while our bank deposits exceed $21,000,000,000, exceeding by millions the entire bank deposits of the whole world.

The United States is characterized as "the most spendthrift nation the world has ever seen" by William Mather Lewis, director of the Savings Department of the United States Treasury. "We spend $22,000,000,000 yearly for luxuries," he says, "and if this stupendous sum was split in two ways we would have enough money to solve the world's capitalization problem."

Lee Puncture-proof tires"

PICKING up a horseshoe is unlucky where ordinary pneumatic tires are concerned. The same applies to nails, tacks, spikes, sharp metal and splinters of stone or glass.

But Lee Puncture-proof tires are different. They carry our cash refund guarantee against puncture. The air in the tire carries the load. Lee Puncture-proofs hold the air.

That's why Lee Puncture-proof pneumatics have grown in favor every day for the past ten years—for passenger, business and delivery cars—for trucks.

We stand ready to prove that Lee Puncture-proof tires will solve your tire-trouble problems.

Three layers of case-hardened steel discs imbedded in pure rubber are built into every Lee Puncture-proof tire.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

Until 8 P. M., next Tuesday, June 21st, the biggest vote offer of the campaign will be in force, and more votes are being given now on subscriptions than at any future time during the campaign. If you wish to help your favorite win, subscribe to The Advocate, or renew your subscription before June 21st, while it will bring the most votes.

Do you owe for subscription? If you get your paper by mail, look at the label which shows the expiration date of your subscription. If you are in arrears, then send in your renewal at once and give some candidate the benefit of the votes. Votes are given free on back subscriptions and renewals as well as on new subscriptions.

During the Contest, ONLY, we are accepting subscriptions and renewals at the Special Bargain Rate of $1.50 a year. Save 50 cents on each year's subscription by paying your subscription now. Not only will you be saving money by subscribing for one or more years in advance, but you will be making some contestant happy with the votes on your renewal.

The Mt. Sterling Advocate, Montgomery County's Leading Newspaper, comes to you twice a week and keeps you in close touch with the news of this vicinity. At the $1.50 rate it is the biggest newspaper bargain offered in this section in many a day.

Harold Ayres, Violinist, at Chautauqua.

HAROLD AYRES.

Harold Ayres, violinist with the Mercer Company at the coming Redpath Chautauqua, is a young artist who has been accorded most enthusiastic receptions in both Chicago and New York. On his debut in Chicago, with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, critics united in praising the surprising maturity and experienced musicianship of Mr. Ayres.

He produces a full round tone of peculiarly lovely quality and interprets his numbers with taste and originality. Mr. Ayres holds a firm place in the front ranks of the younger violinists of today.

BURLEY 'SIGN-UP' STARTS IN RUSH

Big Growers First To Join As
1,395,600 Pounds Are Pledged First Day

DRIVE NOW IN BLUEGRASS

Carrollton, Ky., June 4.—Growers of more than 1,395,600 pounds of burley tobacco signed the contract of the proposed Co-operative Burley Tobacco Marketing Association, at the opening meeting of the active sign-up campaign here today.

Aerage represented by the signatures was more than 1,400, with an average production of about 1,000 pounds to the acre. Two hundred and thirty-five growers signed the contract. Many more were forced to go home without having an opportunity to sign, on account of lack of clerks to attend to them.

Growers from three counties in Indiana and four in Kentucky were among those who bound themselves by the provisions of the five-year contract of the association.

Three farm organizations in Carroll County made the day a special one for their members, and held special meetings on preceding days to urge them to sign the contract immediately. The Farmers' Union was represented by 70 per cent of its members. Approximate figures indicated that the percentage of the Farm Bureau was about the same. The Eureka, a secret society of farmers, had held special meetings to bring the benefits of the plan before its members.

Signing began with the arrival of the first printed contracts from Louisville, and continued all morning without interruption. By noon more than 150 growers had signed, and others were crowding to the tables faster than clerks could prepare the papers for signature.

Curtis Montgomery, Ghent, Ky., was the first grower to sign the contract. He is one of the largest producers of Carroll County, and owns about 600 acres of land suitable for raising tobacco. He stayed in Carrollton all night in order to have the opportunity to sign first.

Despite the fact that a rain the night before the meeting had made a perfect tobacco setting season, hundreds of farmers dismissed the chance in order to attend the "sign-up." By 10 o'clock in the morning, the square around the courthouse, where the signing was in progress, was crowded with farmers and their families. A constant stream continued to pour into the town during the entire morning and early afternoon, as the districts more remote from the town sent in their contingents.

At noon, after the arrival of Judge Robert W. Bingham, Louisville, chief speaker of the day, and chairman of the organization committee of the proposed association, a procession of growers, headed by a band and a group of growers who had signed the contract, marched from the courthouse to the scene of the barbecue and burgoo feast and the afternoon speaking. It is estimated that 2,000 farmers took part. In addition to those many had gone ahead on foot and in cars.

Following the burgoo feast at 1:30 o'clock, Judge Bingham addressed the crowd in one of the town's warehouses. Ralph M. Barker, member of the organization committee, in introducing Judge Bingham, read a telegram from M. O. Wilson, campaign secretary of the association being formed by Virginia and Carolina growers, expressing congratulations and good wishes.

Prolonged applause was given Judge Bingham's prediction that an adequate co-operative association law would be readily passed by the next session of the Kentucky legislature.

At the conclusion of Judge Bingham's address, James C. Stone, Lexington, member of the organization committee, speaking as a representative of the growers of the Bluegrass, thanked the growers of this section for the impetus they had given the campaign, and assured them that the growers of his section would not be slow to follow the example. He said that without exception every man he had consulted in regard to the formation of the proposed association, had been in favor of the movement without reserve.

Other meetings at which the contract of the association will be offered to the growers for signatures will be held the week of June 13, at Shelbyville, Lexington, Mayaville, Danville, Richmond, Cynthiana and possibly other points. Aaron Sapiro, attorney for twenty-two California co-operative associations and considered to be one of the greatest authorities on co-operative agriculture in the world, will address these meetings.

The following names were announced as members of the organization committee:

Judge Bingham, Louisville; Mr. Barker, Carrollton; Edward Baasett, Desha Breckinridge, Harry Giovanoli, Shelby T. Harbison, Charles N. Manung, William A. McDowell, Dr. Frank L. McVey, James C. Stone and Miss Sunshine Sweeney, Lexington; T. S. Burnham, Richmond; Johnson N. Cauden and W. E. Simms, Versailles; Samuel Clay and John T. Collins, Paris; J. N. Kehoe, Mayaville; the Rev. John F. Kane, McQuady; N. C. Ridgeway, Falmouth, and W. A. Cleasatz, Springfield.

"The Ornamental Oil Inspectors"

The following letter from Dr. A. H. Robbins, one of this county's most prominent citizens, relative to the office of Oil Inspector, will, we are sure, be of much interest to all taxpayers:

Governor Morrow, so far, has made no effort to explain to the people of Kentucky how much in fees the "ornamental oil inspectors" gather in.

In McCracken county, Waddy Lang, the brother of County Judge J. W. Lang, holds the office of oil inspector, and the fees he receives amount to $12,000.

In Jefferson county the oil inspectorship pays $20,000 annually, or four times as much as Louisville pays its mayor and more than three times as much as Kentucky pays its Governor.

With the above quotations for a text, will make a few remarks about the "ornamental oil inspectors."

Judge Lang, of McCracken county, seems to be one of those "practical politicians," in whose person nepotism has gone to seed.

Section 245 of the State Constitution, says: "Upon the promulgation of this constitution the Governor shall appoint three persons, learned in the law, who shall be commissioners to revise the statute laws of this commonwealth and prepare amendments thereto, to the end that the statute laws shall conform to and effectuate this constitution. The said commissioners shall be allowed ten dollars a day for their services."

Think of it—the men who were sufficiently "learned in the law" and who did serve on that commission, received only "ten dollars per day for their services," yet some Happy Hooligan can squint at a ear load of oil and receive a fee of $16 therefor.

Section 246 of the constitution says: "No public officer, except the Governor, shall receive more than $5,000 dollars per annum as compensation for official services." After years of arduous toil and long service a man, "learned in the law," may become chief justice of the commonwealth, but the constitution says he shall not receive more than $5,000 for his services; yet some two-by-four politician, without any previous training or especial qualifications, and pull down the shekels to the tune of $20,000.

The framers of our constitution seem to have been very much afraid that the honest, efficient servants of the state would be over-paid, but they left the gates wide open to the grafters. Neither constitutional or statutory law places any limit to the amount which the grafters may gather in—the sky is the limit with them.

The papers tell us that they have been having a hard time, in Fayette county, getting the money with which to pay the county teachers, but we have heard of no trouble in getting the money to pay the "ornamental oil inspector" of that county.

The Standard Oil Company pays him and charges it up to the people and they settle the bill and never know that they have done so. Wonder how many farmers know that every time they get some coal oil, gasoline or lubricating oil for their tractors they are forced to pay tribute to the most useless set of grafters that ever infested any state. Governor Morrow is no more to blame for this condition of things than is Ex-Governor Stanley, for no one ever heard of either of them making an honest effort to rid the old ship of these barnacles.

People should be willing to pay taxes which are collected for public schools, public roads and all other useful purposes, but it is time to rebel against all forms of taxes which are collected for pure and unadulterated graft.

Will say, by way of a digression, that when a man rides over the country and sees bright little children trudging along through the mud and slush to reach some miserable little shack called a "school-house," located on some little three-cornered piece of ground or down in some mud hole, he is brought to a realization of the sad fact that while Kentucky has hundreds of thousands for the lily-fingered grafters, she has comparatively little for the transportation, housing and training of her future generation of voters.

The country children will never come into their own until they have the same protection and school advantages as the children of the cities have. The school director, who is in favor of continuing the system of little one-room school-houses for the country children, should "hang a small piece of crepe on his nose, for his brains are dead."

All the whimsicality of Riley and his keen, understanding large-heartedness are drawn with fidelity, brilliance and sympathy in Mr. Ambary's interpretations.

foulest murders known to the criminal records of any land.

During his gubernatorial campaign Candidate Morrow made so many bombastic, grandiose promises that we were led to expect great things of him when he became Governor. He declared himself to be the modern Hercules, who would clean the Augean stables of its accumulated filth, but his efforts in that direction, instead of being Herculean, have been so Lilliputian as to become laughably ridiculous. If the Governor and the members of the next General Assembly will only get busy in the right direction then will the whole nest of political vampires realize that the sword of Damocles is hanging suspended by a single hair, over their diamond-studded breasts. It is a "consummation devoutly to be wished" that before the Ides of March come again every useless officeholder will have caught the hatchet just where the turkey gobbler caught the axe, the day before Thanksgiving.

But these fellows should not "sorrow as those who have no hope," for the Governor still holds in reserve the appointment of his "Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Timbuctoo."

Those who are close up to the throne at Frankfort say that the Governor intends that plum for some future dethroned oil inspector. Who shall it be? The betting odds are in favor of Waddy Lang, with the Fayette and Montgomery county men as close seconds.

"Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Timbuctoo"—sounds good, don't it?

From the way in which our Governor talked during the recent presidential campaign people were often forced to the conclusion that he, too, as well as "His Excellency, the Emperor of Timbuctoo," had eaten two too many "flap-jacks" for supper the night before, but perish the unholy thought that the Governor had soaked his "flap-jacks" in "Mountain Dew" from some hidden cave down in Pulaski county.

News of the Salvation Army Drive

During the revival now being conducted by Dr. Thacker at the Methodist church, Field Manager Mohr Tuesday night spoke in the interest of the Salvation Army Campaign. He called attention to the number of children the Army is caring for at the day nurseries of the Army and the many receiving the tender care of the Blue Bonnet Lassies in the hospitals of the organization. And the thousands upon thousands of families who are out of employment. And why is it that the Salvation Army is sought? For the reason they will not turn anyone down. That is their record. The Army is fearless. That they proved during the late war, where some of them were wounded. And they remained at the front lines with our boys with blood-stained hands and fingers serving our boys—yes, noblest of all sons—with coffee and dough-nuts, until they became fatigued. And when that happened there were others to take their places. Of course we American people will never forget them. The soldiers, ex-service men, are their friends, and they are not going to see the Blue Bonnet Lassies want for anything to make it possible so that they can help others. That is gratitude.

Dr. Thacker spoke very highly of the campaign and called attention to the fact that when he was holding a revival in Covington Mohr took care of him with newspaper articles on the daily paper he represented, and asked that the citizens donate liberally toward the cause of the Salvation Army.

Judge Prewitt, in speaking of the drive, said "The Salvation Army is a good thing."

Meeting of committees tonight.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Central Committee was held in the County Court room Wednesday night. The committee decided on a house-to-house canvass. The committee, and the American Legion, who are behind the drive, ask all women to lend their assistance in the campaign, if possible. The committee is planning for an all-day outing to be held at the Fair Grounds. It will be either called American Legion or Montgomery Day. It will be a day of pleasure and it is intended that the public will be entertained with bobby shows, bicycle, motorcycle, pony races, baseball, etc. The American wants the campaign to be a real big success.

Mr. H. D. Warnock, provisional program director of the Salvation Army, with headquarters in Cincinnati, visited Mt. Sterling Thursday during trains. He said the demand for provisions, milk and clothing is great, for the reason so many men and women are out of employment. And the Army is taking care of them as they are in other cities. For that reason, he said, the Army is in dire need of funds.

Press Convention

Monday, June 6th, the Kentucky Press Association began its mid-summer meeting at Danville, this being the fifty-second annual meeting.

The place of the meeting in this bluegrass town was at the Kentucky College for Women and was called to order by President R. L. Elkin. The invocation was said by Dr. M. M. Allen, president of the Women's College. The welcome address was delivered by Hon. John W. Yerkes, with response by S. M. Sausley, of Richmond Register.

The annual address by the president was replete with wholesome thought.

The baseball game was an enjoyable sport and the evening on the campus of Centre College was a pleasure to the members. Tuesday the invocation was said by the pastor of the Baptist church, Rev. W. L. Walker. Ken Johnson, of the School of Journalism, University of Kentucky, gave an interesting address on "Making Newspaper Men," dealing in talents, their development and the accuracy of preparation. The speaker foretold the time when only trained men would adorn the newspaper profession. This address was really worth much as was also the address of Miss Annie Poage, of the Ashland Daily Independent, on the subject, "The Observations of a Woman in Journalism." Miss Poage received a fall, inflicting a serious injury, and the paper was read by Mr. Bayley, of the Louisville Times. This paper was really enjoyed.

The round-table talk on "Importance of local news," discussed by "ye" scribe, Mr. Gaines and Sommers, brought out much pleasing interest. The failure of Harry W. Porte to be present and discuss the Franklin Price List, was a source of regret. Many of the printers use the list and pronounce it of much advantage to the job department.

The banquet dinner given by the Danville Chamber of Commerce was a pleasing feature as was also the toasts and their replies.

Wednesday the invocation was said by our own Matt Hart, pastor of the Christian church. The address of President McVey, of Kentucky University, carried conviction to every editor present as the speaker showed the need of a greater university and they will use the powers of the Kentucky Press to meet the demands. It is a source of regret that so few were present to hear this master address. There were about 50 newspapers represented and not as many as two dozen were present to engage in the concluding work of the association.

The roundtable, led on the last day by Mr. Hutton, of the Harrodsburg Herald, on the subject "Advertising Rates," had its heights, depths and breadths and at this closing hour with but a handful present, was touched only in high points. This subject and that of the job department should find space on the mid-winter program to be considered when the experienced men of the craft are present. We would also suggest the election of officers at the business meetings at a time when the greatest number are present and that the officers be elected to preside at the meeting elected and the interim to the following meetings.

This mid-summer meeting, barring the regretful accident of Miss Poage, was enjoyable, and profitable as well. The great heart of Danville gave of theirs to the comfort and pleasure of the association and this city will ever be remembered as a place where real Kentucky hospitality was dispensed without stint.

The city editor looked over the manuscript the caller had handed him.

"If I run this item, madam," he said, "I shall have to use the blue pencil on about nine-tenths of it."

"Oh, that's too much trouble!" she exclaimed "Let me have it again and I'll write it all with a blue pencil."

Kentucky College For Women at Danville

Were we to pass without mention the kindness of this institution, the home of the mid-summer meeting of the Kentucky Press Association during the period of its fifty-second annual meeting we would think ourselves amiss of duty and akin to an ungrateful kind. The president, Dr. M. M. Allen, and Dean Miss Ruth Andrews, were thoughtful to every wish for the supervision, the continued showers of kindness. We are thankful to the very depth of our hearts. By the way of parenthesis and brag we want to say that Dr. Allen is a man of cultured powers, akin to our gifted citizen, also a man of letter, Robert Marshall, and of the lineage of the Marshalls, Clays and Breckinridges, with his entire life engaged for the greatest success of the Kentucky Women's College. The dean, Miss Ruth Andrews, is also thoughtful, ever mindful of the interests of the college and comes from A. B. A. M. Vassar College graduate. The college campus is well dotted with shade trees of luxurious growth, the buildings are modern, both in style and equipment, and should we write of all we saw and heard that was of pleasing favor to this school for women there would not be space for another item on these sixteen pages of the Advocate. And we pass with this in location, in buildings, in equipment as an ideal home for women in search of such an education that fits them for the real life. Go where you may be diligent in research and you will have this thought clothed with the words, "There are none better for the designed purpose."

In 1854 a movement was launched to be resultful in the development of women with the same advantages afforded young men in the historic Centre College of Kentucky. These efforts were manned by such men as Dr. E. W. Humphrey, Dr. Robert J. Breckinridge and Dr. Louis W. Greene. Where they by divine providence left off, others have succeeded until today on the campus as mentioned real school buildings adorn the 22 acre plat originally secured. Formerly this was a junior college, but it is now an A class A. B. College. There are many reasons for this change, notably the Eastern colleges are full, with many on the waiting list now, the increase of the number of girls graduating from Kentucky high schools who are seeking a more extended education, and the growing desire that comes from all quarters for the attainment of a college education.

Surprise Wedding

The following item from the Shelby (N. C.) News will be of interest to Mr. Cook's many friends in this city:

A marriage which came as quite a surprise to their many friends here is that of Miss Ethel Lattimore, of the Sharon section, and Mr. Preston N. Cook, of this place, which happy event took place at 9 o'clock on the night of June 2nd at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. W. E. Poovey performing the ceremony. The intended marriage was kept a profound secret from all friends and relatives until after the knot was tied, and immediately after the ceremony this happy young couple left by automobile for a bridal trip to Chimney Rock and other points in Western Carolina.

The bride is the bright and attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lattimore, of Sharon, one of Cleveland's most prominent and influential families. She is a beautiful young woman and numbers her friends by the score. The groom has been making his home here for the past two years, owning an interest in the Shelby Steam Laundry with his father, Mr. J. E. Cook. He is a splendid and popular young business man and during his recent sojourn in our midst has made many warm friends. On their return they will make their home with his parents.
